The FUNCTION LEADER is committed to creating a more sustainable future.

We understand that without a healthy and sustainable environment, there will be no future in which we, as a business, can thrive.

OUR MEMBERS WANT TO BE PART TO BUILD A MORE SUSTAINABLE WORLD

WHAT WE PROVIDE

Our events and membership activities will minimize waste, for reusable materials where possible, and encourage more sustainable ways for customers to participate:

- Card and paper will be replaced with alternatives
- Sustainable options for events suppliers, where possible:
- Supporting the events team to work towards ISO20121
- Choosing more sustainable venues
- Supporting digital information

WHAT WE BUY

Where possible we will choose to buy the more sustainable option:

- Supporting travel alternatives to flights and investigating carbon offsetting schemes
- Auditing facilities, energy, packaging for sustainable alternatives
- Encouraging and supporting staff to buy from sustainable suppliers where possible
- Purchasing our office goods and services from not only sustainable suppliers, but also those owned and managed by diverse groups

WHAT WE PROVIDE

We will reduce waste, educate and encourage more sustainable decision making among our staff and actively pursue ideas on how to become more sustainable as a business and as individuals

- Rewarding sustainable initiatives and encouraging more environmentally-conscious behavior in our day-to-day operations
- Committing to becoming better informed, learning what choices are available

FUTURE PROOF PROCUREMENT

WHAT DO WE PLAN?

Procurement planning practices display a strong short- to medium-term orientation. This is rather one-dimensional; a much too short-lived perspective for durable future procurement

WHAT DO WE REALISE?

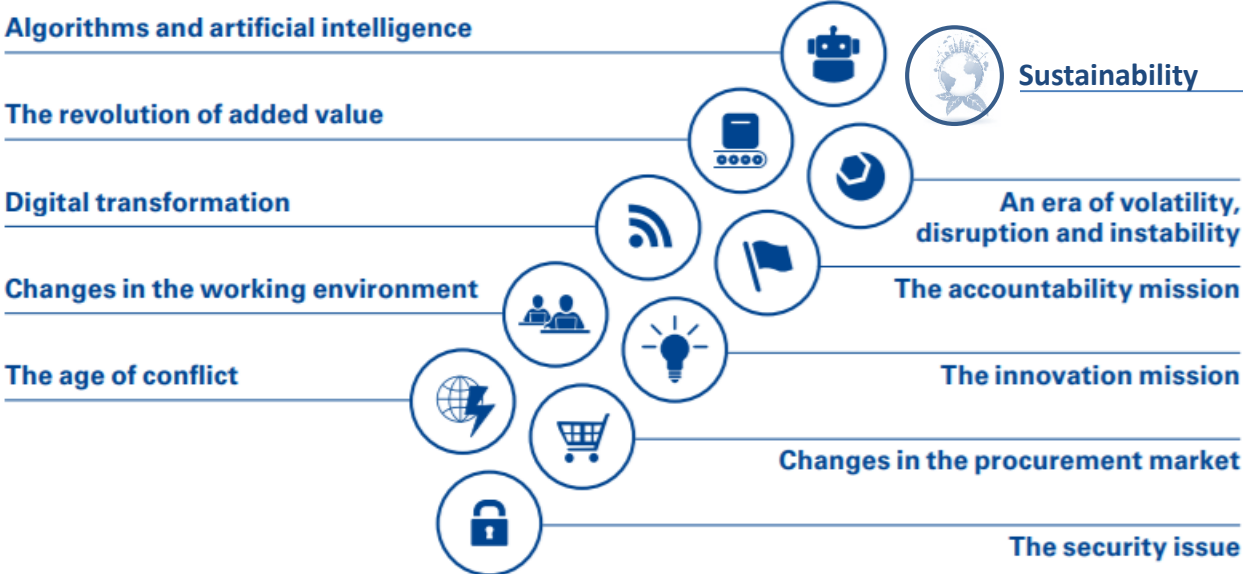

Think out-of-the-box phenomena like weak signals, wild cards, structural breaks and strategic surprises, or even potential technological leaps. Admittedly, such phenomena were once isolated occurrences in the comparatively stable market conditions of the past.

WHAT DO WE BUILD FOR THE FUTURE?

Today, it is not an exaggeration to say that the future is full of surprises. This makes thinking out-of-the-box, also known as lateral or unconventional thinking, a key competence for future-proof procurement. The title of this study encompasses this ability to break out of established thought patterns. This is not about predicting short-term trends; it is about comprehensibility
